

C-Tech® Flex E.H.P.

C-Tech Flex E.H.P. is a concentrated blend of ingredients designed to help equine with extreme joint problems. It provides natural support for a horse's body lubricants and connective tissues. It contains therapeutic levels of Glucosamine, MSM, and Chondroitin Sulfate.

Features and Benefits

- Provides natural support for horses that have severe joint problems.
- Helps a horse's body to repair damaged connective tissue, lubricate joints, and fight inflammation.
- Has ingredients that help to reduce swelling, inflammation, and stiffness due to strenuous training and competition.
- Made from high quality ingredients to ensure proper digestion and absorption.
- Includes probiotics to help maintain a healthy intestinal microflora even during times of stress.
- Includes feed enzymes to help with proper digestion and feed efficiency.
- Palatable formula with very few problems of sorting reported.
- Contains therapeutic levels of Glucosamine, MSM, and Chondroitin Sulfate

Overview

C-Tech Flex E.H.P. is a concentrated blend of ingredients designed to help equine with extreme joint problems. Whether your horse has been diagnosed with arthritis, epiphysitis, hock problems, acute laminitis, intestinal inflammation, or just old age, C-Tech Flex E.H.P. helps keep joints lubricated, and reduces pain and inflammation. Injection only covers up the problem. C-Tech Flex E.H.P., while not able to cure these ailments, can significantly reduce symptoms and increase the longevity of your animal. Studies on the ingredients in C-Tech Flex E.H.P. show that they not only slow down joint decay, but that they can, in some cases, help to rebuild damaged joint tissue. MSM, Glucosamine, and Chondroitin supplementation has been shown to help with the healing of strains, sprains, and inflammation. In some cases repaired tissue is stronger because of this supplementation. These ingredients also help in cases of chronic muscle soreness by relieving inflammation associated with exercise. C-Tech Flex E.H.P. competes with all other joint supplements on the market today. C-Tech Flex E.H.P. goes a step further than most joint supplements by containing ingredients that help maintain a horse's stomach and provides support to the immune system. C-Tech Flex E.H.P. is a top-of-the-line product that provides all the necessary building blocks for healing and maintaining joint health. For more information on the ingredients in this product and how they help refer to the "Maintaining Joint Health" article on page 5.

