

C-Tech[®] Health Factors

C-Tech Equine Health Factors provides a combination of ingredients necessary for maintenance of proper gut function, joint health, and digestion. If used on a daily basis, it can help to reduce instances of many common problems that horses face.

Features and Benefits

- Helps to reduce instances of stomach ulcers and colic.
- Helps to prevent joint problems and promotes healthy bone and joint development.
- Has ingredients that help to reduce swelling, inflammation, and stiffness due to strenuous training and competition.
- Made from high quality ingredients to ensure proper digestion and absorption.
- Includes probiotics to help maintain a healthy intestinal microflora even during times of stress.
- Includes feed enzymes to help with proper digestion and feed efficiency.
- Palatable formula with very few problems of sorting reported.
- Great for horses of any age and any discipline.

Overview

C-Tech Equine Health Factors is a feed supplement that, when fed from day one, can reduce instances of joint problems, stomach ulcers, and colic. It contains good sources of probiotics that helps to reduce stomach ulcers, colic and keeps the gut functioning properly. C-Tech Equine Health Factors also contains several types of feed enzymes that work to break down plant matter making it more digestible and usable for the horse. C-Tech Equine Health Factors also has probiotics that help maintain a healthy microbial balance in the stomach and small and large intestines. This reduces the chance that ulcers will form and increases digestibility of plant matter. Along with ingredients that help the digestive tract, C-Tech Equine Health Factors contains maintenance levels of MSM, Chondroitin, and Glucosamine. These ingredients have been shown to help prevent joint problems, reduce muscle soreness, reduce instances of reoccurring digestive tract disorders, and reduce instances of epiphysitis in young horses. The latest studies show that MSM works best in conjunction with Vitamin C. They seem to support one another and work together to increase the availability of the ingredients in the body of the horse. C-Tech Equine Health Factors is a supplement designed for horses starting the day they are weaned. It is a whole health product that helps support the critical systems of a horse's body. Many problems horses face today can be solved by maintaining their joints and digestive tracts.

